SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

Policy overview and purpose

Social media is changing the way we communicate.

This policy has been developed to inform our community about using social media so people feel enabled to participate, while being mindful of their responsibilities and obligations. In particular, this policy provides practical guidance allowing all parties to benefit from the use of social media, while minimising potential risks and protecting those involved.

This policy assists to establish a culture of openness, trust and integrity in all online activities related to The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

This policy contains The Gridiron Association of South Australia guidelines for The Gridiron Association of South Australia community to engage in social media use. It also includes details of breaches of the policy.

In circumstances where guidance about social media issues has not been given in this policy, we suggest you use common sense or seek out advice from those who have approved this policy.

Underlying principles

This policy complements The Gridiron Association of South Australia's core values:

“As the body for the sport of Gridiron in the State of South Australia, GASA's purpose is to provide for the conduct, promotion and administration of the sport for the mutual and collective benefit of the Gridiron community. We aim to provide opportunities for individuals of all ages and abilities to participate at their desired level as a player, referee or coach and deliver an events portfolio which supports these opportunities. At the highest level, this means delivering success in competitions through a sustainable and well-structured pathway. We do this through fostering relationships with key stakeholders to grow, enhance and better deliver Gridiron to the communities of South Australia. It is vital that individuals in any facets of the sport (players, coaches, officials, administrators and volunteers) are able to participate freely. GASA is therefore committed to providing an environment that is safe for children, free from harassment, discrimination and abuse for everyone, and promotes respectful and positive behaviour and values. The Gridiron Association of South Australia is committed to ensuring that everyone associated with the organisation complies with this policy so that Gridiron participants at all levels have a positive, respectful and fulfilling experience.”

The Gridiron South Australia Board of Management is responsible for all matters related to this policy.

- Any other online technologies that allow individual users to upload and share content.

This policy is applicable when using social media as:

1. an officially designated individual representing The Gridiron Association of South Australia on social media; and
2. If you are posting content on social media in relation to The Gridiron Association of South Australia that might affect The Gridiron Association of South Australia's business, events, sponsors, members or reputation.

NOTE: This policy does not apply to the personal use of social media where it is not related to or there is no reference to The Gridiron Association of South Australia or its business, competitions, teams, participants, products, services, events, sponsors, members or reputation. However, any misuse by you of social media in a manner that does not directly refer to The Gridiron Association of South Australia may still be regulated by other policies, rules or regulations of The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

Using social media in an official capacity

You must be authorised by The Gridiron Association of South Australia Board before engaging in social media as a representative of The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

As a part of The Gridiron Association of South Australia's, community you are an extension of The Gridiron Association of South Australia brand.

As such, the boundaries between when you are representing yourself and when you are representing The Gridiron Association of South Australia can often be blurred. This becomes even more of an issue as you increase your profile or position within The Gridiron Association of South Australia. Therefore it is important that you represent both yourself and The Gridiron Association of South Australia appropriately online at all times.

Guidelines

You must adhere to the following guidelines when using social media related to The Gridiron Association of South Australia or its business, products, competitions, teams, participants, services, events, sponsors, members or reputation.

Use common sense

Whenever you are unsure as to whether or not the content you wish to share is appropriate, seek advice from others before doing so or refrain from sharing the content to be on the safe side.

When using social media, the lines between public and private, personal and professional, may be blurred. Remember, you are an ambassador for The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

Protecting your privacy

Be smart about protecting yourself and your privacy.

When posting content online there is potential for that content to become publicly available through a variety of means, even if it was intended to be shared privately. Therefore, you should refrain from posting any content online that you would not be happy for anyone to see, even if you feel confident that a particular individual would never see it.

Where possible, privacy settings on social media platforms should be set to limit access. You should also be cautious about disclosing your personal details.

Honesty

Your honesty—or dishonesty—may be quickly noticed in the social media environment. Do not say anything that is dishonest, untrue or misleading. If you are unsure, check the source and the facts before uploading or posting anything. The Gridiron Association of South Australia recommends erring on the side of caution – if in doubt, do not post or upload.

Do not post anonymously, using pseudonyms or false screen names. Be transparent and honest. Use your real name, be clear about who you are and identify any affiliations you have.

If you have a vested interest in something you are discussing, point it out. If you make an endorsement or recommendation about something you are affiliated with, or have a close relationship with, you must disclose that affiliation.

The web is not anonymous. You should assume that all information posted online can be traced back to you. You are accountable for your actions both on and offline, including the information you post via your personal social media accounts.

Use of disclaimers

Wherever practical, include a prominent disclaimer stating who you work for or are affiliated with (e.g. member of The Gridiron Association of South Australia) and that anything you publish is your personal opinion and that you are not speaking officially. This is good practice and is encouraged, but don't count on it to avoid trouble – it may not have legal effect.

Reasonable use

If you are an employee of The Gridiron Association of South Australia, you must ensure that your personal use of social media does not interfere with your work commitments or productivity.

Respect confidentiality and sensitivity

When using social media, you must maintain the privacy of The Gridiron Association of South Australia's confidential information. This includes information that is not publically accessible, widely known, or not expected to be shared outside of The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

Remember, if you are online, you are on the record—much of the content posted online is public and searchable.

Within the scope of your authorisation by The Gridiron Association of South Australia, it is perfectly acceptable to talk about The Gridiron Association of South Australia and have a dialogue with the community, but it is not okay to publish confidential information of The Gridiron Association of South Australia. Confidential information includes things such as details about litigation, unreleased product information and unpublished details about our Teams, Coaching Practices, Financial Information and Members.

When using social media you should be considerate to others and should not post information when you have been asked not to, or where consent has not been sought and given. You must also remove information about another person if that person asks you to do so.

Permission should always be sought if the use or publication of information is not incidental, but directly related to an individual. This is particularly relevant to publishing any information regarding minors. In such circumstances, parental or guardian consent is mandatory.

Gaining permission when publishing a person's identifiable image

You must obtain express permission from an individual to use a direct, clearly identifiable image of that person.

You should also refrain from posting any information or photos of a sensitive nature. This could include accidents, incidents or controversial behaviour.

In every instance, you need to have consent of the owner of copyright in the image.

Complying with applicable laws

Do not post or link to content that contains illegal or indecent content, including defamatory, vilifying or misleading and deceptive content.

Abiding by copyright laws

It is critical that you comply with the laws governing copyright in relation to material owned by others and The Gridiron Association of South Australia's own copyrights and brands.

You should never quote or use more than short excerpts of someone else's work, and you should always attribute such work to the original author/source. It is good practice to link to others' work rather than reproduce it.

Discrimination, sexual harassment and bullying

The public in general, and The Gridiron Association of South Australia's employees and members, reflect a diverse set of customs, values and points of view.

You must not post any material that is offensive, harassing, discriminatory, embarrassing, intimidating, sexually explicit, bullying, hateful, racist, sexist or otherwise inappropriate.

When using social media you may also be bound by The Gridiron Association of South Australia's Member Protection.

Avoiding controversial issues

Within the scope of your authorisation by The Gridiron Association of South Australia, if you see misrepresentations made about The Gridiron Association of South Australia in the media, you may point that out to the relevant authority in The Gridiron Association of South Australia Board. Always do so with respect and with the facts. If you speak about others, make sure what you say is based on fact and does not discredit or belittle that party.

Dealing with mistakes

If The Gridiron Association of South Australia makes an error while posting on social media, be up front about the mistake and address it quickly. If you choose to modify an earlier post, make it clear that you have done so. If someone accuses The Gridiron Association of South Australia of posting something improper (such as their copyrighted material or a defamatory comment about them), address it promptly and appropriately and if necessary, seek legal advice.

Conscientious behaviour and awareness of the consequences

Keep in mind that what you write is your responsibility, and failure to abide by these guidelines could put your Membership at risk.

You should always follow the terms and conditions for any third-party sites in which you participate.

Branding and intellectual property of The Gridiron Association of South Australia

You must not use any of The Gridiron Association of South Australia's intellectual property or imagery on your personal social media without prior approval from The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

The Gridiron Association of South Australia's intellectual property includes but is not limited to:

- trademarks
- logos
- slogans
- Imagery which has been posted on The Gridiron Association of South Australia official social media sites or website.

You must not create either an official or unofficial The Gridiron Association of South Australia presence using the organisation's trademarks or name without prior approval from The Gridiron Association of South Australia.

You must not imply that you are authorised to speak on behalf of The Gridiron Association of South Australia unless you have been given official authorisation to do so by The Gridiron Association of South Australia Board.

Policy breaches

Breaches of this policy include but are not limited to:

- Using The Gridiron Association of South Australia's name, motto, crest and/or logo in a way that would result in a negative impact for the organisation, clubs and/or its members.
- Posting or sharing any content that is abusive, harassing, threatening, demeaning, defamatory or libellous.
- Posting or sharing any content that includes insulting, obscene, offensive, provocative or hateful language.
- Posting or sharing any content, which if said in person during the playing of the game would result in a breach of the rules of the game.
- Posting or sharing any content in breach of The Gridiron Association of South Australia's anti-discrimination, racial discrimination, sexual harassment or other similar policy.
- Posting or sharing any content that is a breach of any state or Commonwealth law.

- Posting or sharing any material to our social media channels that infringes the intellectual property rights of others.
- Posting or sharing material that brings, or risks bringing The Gridiron Association of South Australia its affiliates, its sport, its officials, members or sponsors into disrepute. In this context, bringing a person or organisation into disrepute is to lower the reputation of that person or organisation in the eyes of the ordinary members of the public.

Reporting a breach

If you notice inappropriate or unlawful content online relating to The Gridiron Association of South Australia or any of its members, or content that may otherwise have been published in breach of this policy, you should report the circumstances immediately.

This can be done by contacting your elected club board president, or The Gridiron Association of South Australia Board directly.

Further information about reporting breaches:

- For a complaint about the misuse of social media relating to a match or competition that occurs either prior to, during, or after a game; refer to The Gridiron Association of South Australia Member protection Policy
- For a complaint about the misuse of social media that is general in nature and/or ongoing and does not apply to a particular game; refer to The Gridiron Association of South Australia Member Protection Policy.
